I'm a Squiggly-Wiggly Worm,

Here to help you learn!

Heads or Tails is my favorite game

My front & back
look nearly the same

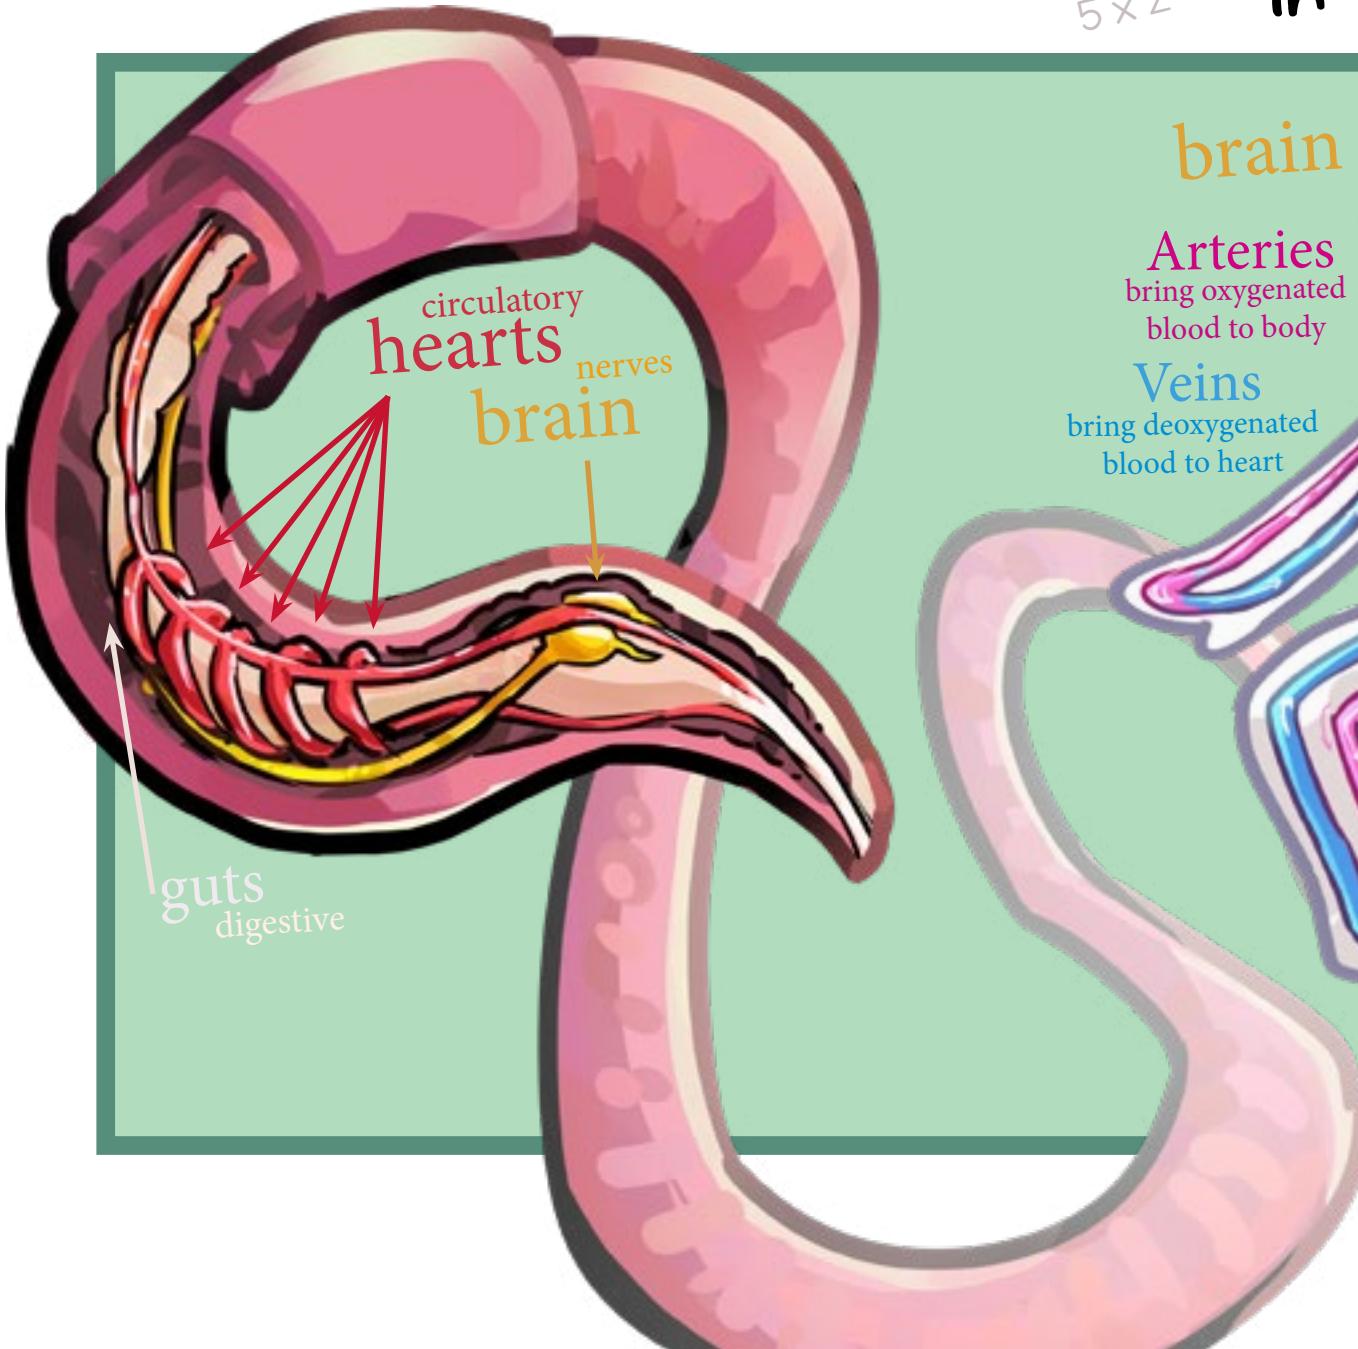

I squash and stretch
to move~

and you can do
"the worm" to groove!

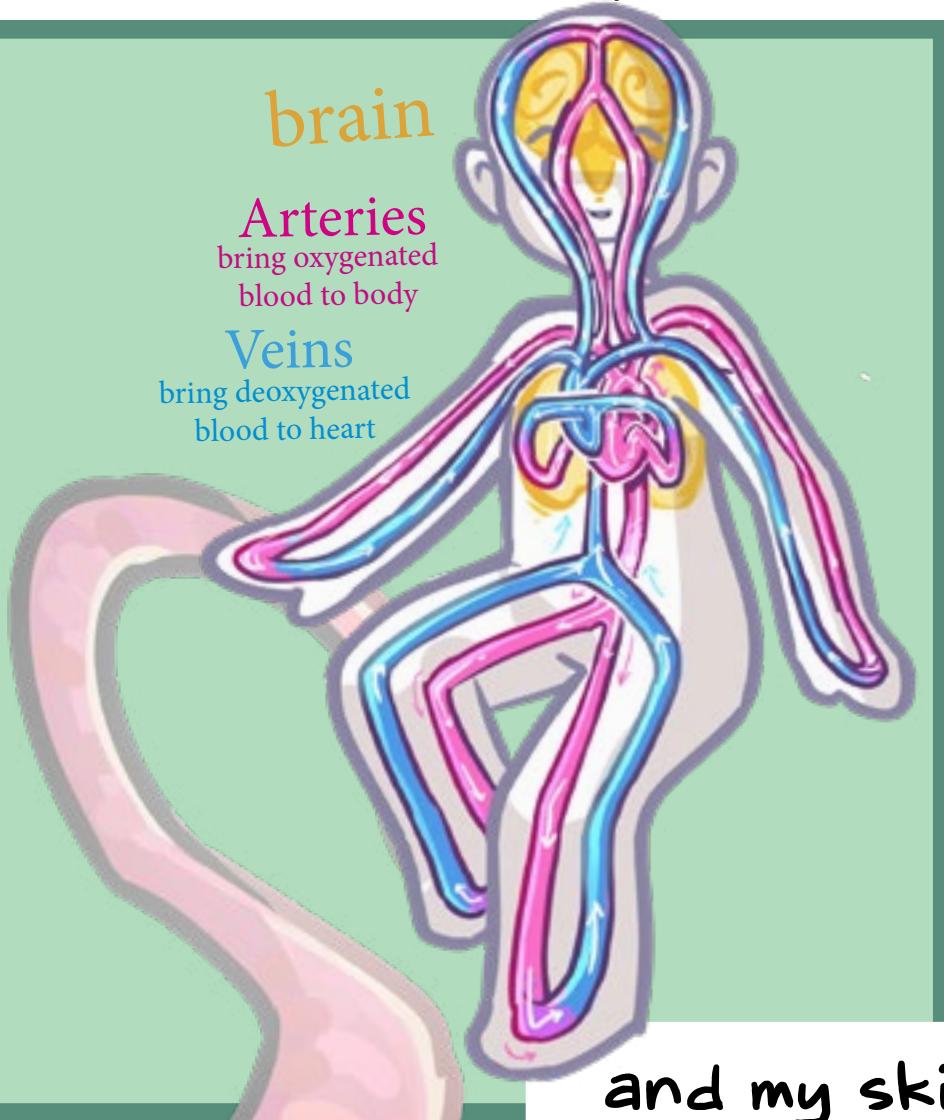

What I lack in smarts,
I make up for in hearts.

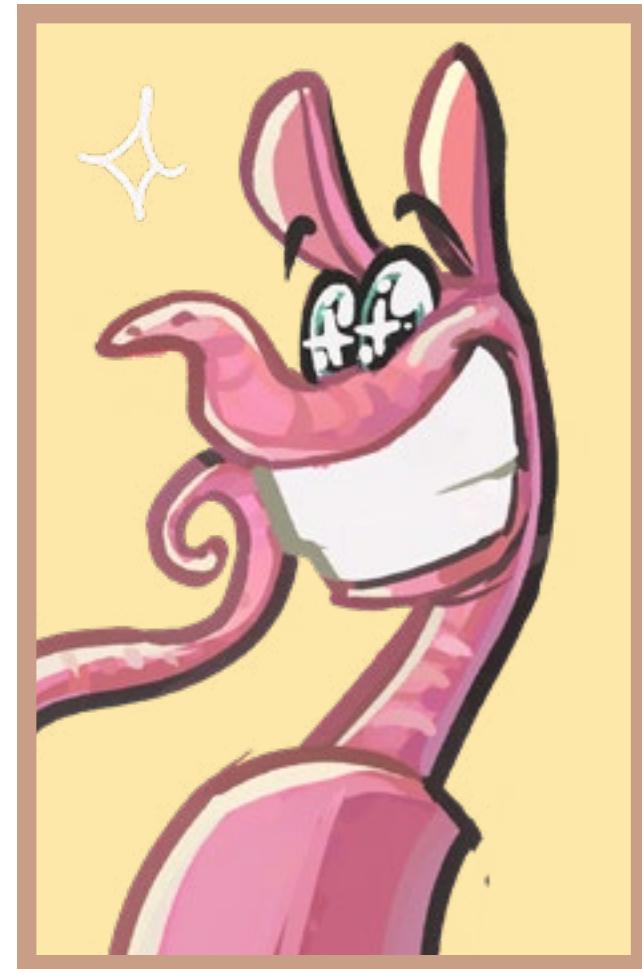

You have one, there...
But I have ten
in five pairs!

$$5 \times 2 = 10$$

and my skin
absorbs air!

I have no bones,
or ears, or eyes...

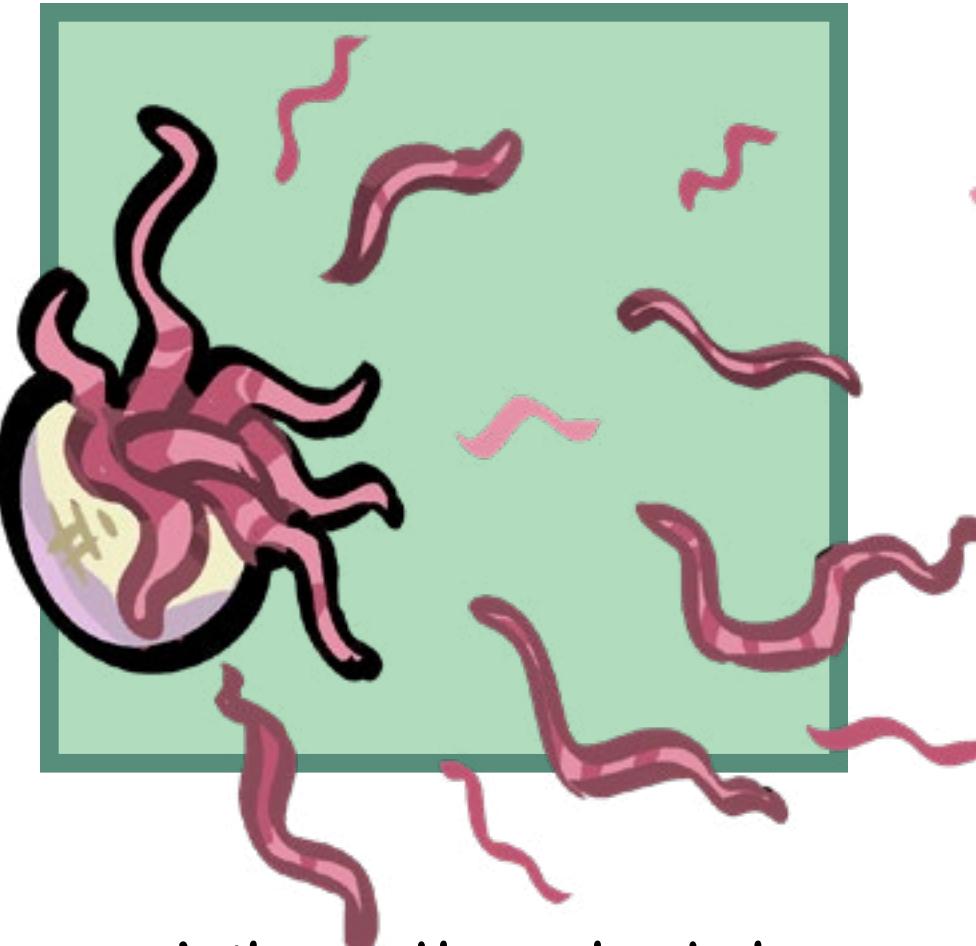

and here's another
BIG surprise...

I can be a dad or a mum-I'm both genders, not one.

I'll wrap my eggs soon
in tiny cocoons.

When they hatch
they'll be in a batch

I don't eat others...
but others eat me,

Like nature's tasty spaghetti!

When split in two
my tail will grow new

But my old tail is dead & won't grow a head.

Covered in slime,
I slide through grime

Eating debris
from critters & trees

I tunnel and toil
making fresh soil

helping plants eat
right under your feet.

Fun in the sun
isn't fun for me-

it dries me out,
and fries me- EEK!

I come up
when it rains
then wait til
it drains.

When splashing around,
please look down!

I may be there,
on the ground...

Make a Worm Farm

Worms aren't carnivores, herbivores or omnivores - they're "detritivores" which means they eat rotting things. They're very important!

Cover with a paper bag for shade, and release them after 2 weeks

How to Draw

Start with a Wiggly-Squiggle

Add a smile

Give them a little mechanical-
pencil grip-
-sweater-thing

Outline!

Rings tell the
viewer which way
they're going

find midline
add rings

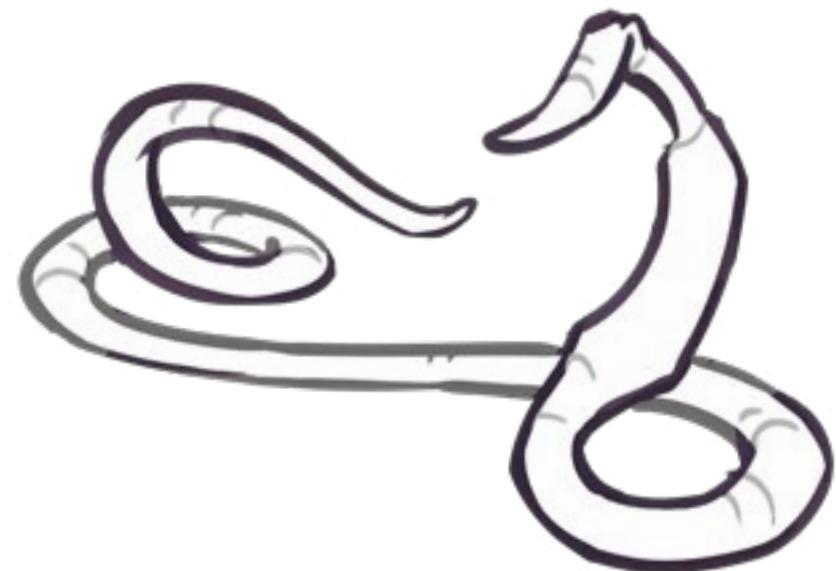

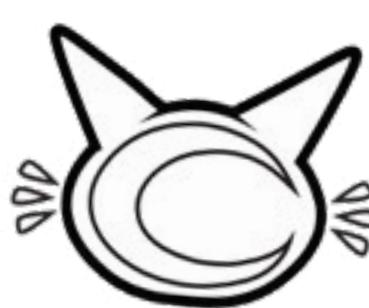

Add highlights~

Try keeping the angle consistent

Play with overlaps to make them smooth
or twisty
